

Everyday

Everyday we ignore the facts, our minds programmed, our lives that lack the thoughts for those who begin their days lost and not ready to face the problems that never end, not even at the end of the day.

We live in oblivion, we pretend, ignore, as we become part of the problem. We stay silent but the suffering dreamers can only dream about the day we act on the issues and the things, we should realise that matter.

Grace Bellis