

Saxophone and Clarinet tuition

ST. AIDAN'S
CHURCH OF ENGLAND HIGH SCHOOL

- Learn with a dedicated and highly experienced teacher
- All abilities welcome (from complete beginner through to Grade 8)
- Flexible tuition to suit the learning style of the student
- Work on exam repertoire, improvisation, or your favourite songs
- Develop the skills to play in bands, school ensembles or with friends
- Improve your music knowledge, listening skills and concentration
- No previous musical experience necessary

Contact

- To sign up, or for more information, please get in touch at gregsurmaczmusic@gmail.com
- You can also find out more about me on my website: gregsurmacz.com

Lesson Information

- 20-minute lesson: £12 or 30-minute lesson: £16
- Rotating timetable, so minimal impact on class lessons
- 50% discount for GCSE and A-Level music students
- Guidance on acquiring an instrument available

About Me

I am an experienced educator and performer based in Leeds, having graduated from Leeds College of Music (now Leeds Conservatoire) on the BA Jazz Studies course. I regularly perform all over Europe with a variety of bands and ensembles (from village fetes to Glastonbury), as well as writing and producing music for TV and film. Although I only started teaching at St. Aidan's this year, I have been working in schools for over a decade.

I have knowledge and experience of a wide range of musical styles, from classical and jazz through to funk, soul and electronic music. My lessons are informal but rigorous, balancing technique and progression with enjoyment – I firmly believe that students learn best when they are enjoying their lessons, so I try to be flexible with what we play where possible.

With my jazz background, I am happy teaching improvisation, as well as guiding students through classical grades – equally, good progress can be made without taking exams if preferred. I firmly believe that everyone has the potential to be a musician, regardless of previous experience or background.